

HUERTA MISSING FROM CAPITAL

Mexico's Dictator Believed to Have Fled Republic.

U. S. HOLDS NOTE FOR HIM

President Wilson Suddenly Delays Announcement of His Policy and Declares Situation Is More Hopeful.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—While it is impossible to find anybody who actually saw Huerta leave this city, several things seem to indicate that the provisional president did make his departure.

One thing is positive. Huerta sent seven trucks to Vera Cruz several days ago. Another fact is significant—four statehouses have been engaged for a prominent official of the Mexican government on board the steamer Fuerst Bismarck, which sails from Vera Cruz on Saturday. An effort is being made to locate Huerta, but he is not at the palace nor at his home nor at any of his usual haunts.

A priest is authorized for the statement that he was well known to the church that Huerta would leave.

Wilson Holds War Message.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secret dispatches to the state department from Dr. William Bayard Hale, special envoy to General Carranza, constitutionalist leader, and from John Lind and Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, who are dealing with Huerta, are looked up in a presidential message he had prepared to give to the public.

After a White House statement had been made early in the day that a special announcement on the Mexican situation was to be sent out, the president said:

"There are elements in this case which I cannot at present discuss, but which make it look to me very much more favorable."

It is understood that the White House has been informed Huerta is about to yield to pressure and to eliminate himself as the "stormy petrel" in Mexican affairs.

How this elimination is to come about was not explained. The White House and the state department are reluctant on the one hand to be identified with the Mexican situation and on the other to be identified with the Mexican situation.

Dispatches received at the state department announce the success of revolutionists in Mexico in capturing the port of Altata, Lower California. Consul Alger at Mazatlan reported that the water supply of Mazatlan, on the west coast of Mexico, had been cut about three miles out of the city.

The revolutionists are operating in that section with the purpose of capturing Mazatlan.

The value to the revolutionists of going seaborne is said to be considerable through which they may be able to secure arms and ammunition.

Should they succeed in capturing Mazatlan, which is a port of entry, they would be free to take in without secrecy munitions of war.

Vera Cruz, Nov. 14.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal envoy to Mexico, is being guarded from assassination.

This was revealed during the day on his arrival here when the Vera Cruz police threw a cordon of rurales about him and his quarters in the American consulate.

Mr. Lind's removal from the hotel to the consulate is said to have been requested by the chief of police, who heard that a plot against the envoy's life had been hatched.

The greatest fear of the Americans here is that the Inter-oceanic railway, the only line of communication between here and Mexico City, will be cut, thereby cutting off the escape of Americans who now are in Mexico City. Troops are guarding the line now.

The United States scout cruiser Chester arrived here from Philadelphia. More than 100 American refugees from Mexico City also reached here.

LIND QUILTS CAPITAL

WILSON'S ENVOY HANDS DICTATOR ULTIMATUM AGAINST SEATING CONGRESS.

TIME UP, GETS NO REPLY

AMERICAN'S PERSONAL EFFECTS REMOVED
FROM HOTEL AT VERA CRUZ TO U. S. CONSULATE—O'SHAUGHNESSY MAY BE RECALLED FROM REPUBLIC.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—Envoy John Lind left on Wednesday night for Vera Cruz. He gave Huerta notice that no further negotiations of any kind between the United States and Mexico would be possible unless the newly-elected congress were dissolved. No answer was forthcoming.

The personal effects of John Lind were removed from the hotel where he has resided during his stay in Vera Cruz to the American consulate.

General Huerta was notified early in the day that unless he dissolved the congress by six o'clock, believed to the effect that he would prevent the newly elected congress from convening, and furthermore, make this action known to the members of the diplomatic corps by midnight, the United States would have no further parleying with the Mexican government.

Mr. Lind waited until six o'clock, but received no answer. Then he arranged for his departure, leaving for Vera Cruz at eight o'clock.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge, was the messenger who delivered the ultimatum. He was unable personally to reach Huerta, but left the message with the chief of police. It was intimated at the palace that Huerta had not received the note in time to give it full consideration. This, however, did not appear to Mr. Lind as a valid excuse for procrastination.

The presence of the convening of congress has been an essential point in the negotiations conducted by Mr. Lind; this for two reasons: First, it was believed the new congress would lose no time in passing measures having to do with the belief that the new congress would see some decisive move on the part of Washington.

Not since the revolution began has there been so much talk of the return of Huerta to Mexico as it was all day. The most categorical denials by Messrs. O'Shaughnessy and Lind of knowledge of any developments on which this feeling could be based failed to disabuse the mind of the people of the belief that the next 24 hours would see some decisive move on the part of Washington.

The reports spread until there was scarcely a foreign resident in the city who did not hear of the American charge had been given up was about to be given his passport.

All sorts of rumors were current. Many persons who contemplated leaving the country soon made hurried preparations and caught the night train to Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind was said to have received from Vera Cruz messages urging him to return at once, for fear the railroad would be cut.

Rebels began a campaign to interrupt traffic between the capital and Vera Cruz. A train was held up on the main line of the Inter-oceanic railway at night and all passengers robbed. From the express car the rebels carried off 1,000,000 pesos in government silver.

The federal garrison at Tuxpan asked the war department for reinforcements, but was told help was unavailable.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Bryan announced that the government would issue within a few days a statement setting forth the steps the United States would take to solve the Mexican problem. Almost simultaneously came news from William Bayard Hale, reputed personal envoy of President Wilson, of his conference with Gen. Victoriano Carranza, chief of the Mexican constitutionalists, at Nogales, Sonora.

Information from an authoritative source was that Secretary Bryan was considering the breaking of diplomatic negotiations with Mexico and preparing for the withdrawal of Mr. O'Shaughnessy from the American charge d'affaires, from Mexico City.

Although officials were reticent, it became known that Mr. Hale presented to Carranza a proposal designed to end the Mexican revolution. This was said to include a request that Carranza, at their meeting, be present at the meeting with Mr. Hale, name their choice for a provisional president to succeed Huerta and that they open negotiations with leaders in the City of Mexico, through the United States, with a view of having such an official installed in the federal capital.

BEILIS IS ACQUITTED

TROOPS CHARGE RUSSIANS ANGERED BY THE VERDICT.

Comment Calls Result Triumph for Jews as Well as Vindication to Innocent Man.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 12.—Found not guilty by the jury that had heard the evidence in his trial, Mendel Beilis, the Jew accused by the government of "ritual murder," had to be escorted from the courthouse to his home by an escort of soldiers on Monday.

So angry was the crowd that jammed the little courtroom here, and so incensed did the larger crowd outside become when the news of the verdict penetrated the walls, that it seemed for a time that the Russians would tear the acquitted defendant to pieces.

Only by marching with fixed bayonets was the escort of soldiers able to force a passage to the Beilis cottage, which is scarcely a stone's throw from the courthouse. At night the entire district was patrolled by soldiers.

Once in the bosom of his family, Beilis collapsed completely.

While his wife and children cowered at the sounds of conflict that followed the dispersal of the mob, the accused, the Consul, the man himself sank wearily upon a bed, his strength utterly exhausted.

The specific charge against Beilis was that he had killed Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian boy, for the purpose of using his blood in a sacrificial ritual demanded by his religion.

GALE AT CLEVELAND

HUGE SNOWDRIFTS CHOKED THE STREETS AND DEAD RE-MAIN UNBURIED.

MANY PERISH ON SHIPS.

Bodies Driven Ashore Tell Story of Storm on Lakes—Deaths Placed at Hundred—Rescued Flight Waves for Sixty Hours.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 13.—This city hopes for a speedy cessation of the difficulties that have beset it since the worst snowstorm in its history struck the city Sunday night, when an average of 14 inches of snow fell. Fair and warmer weather is predicted.

A resumption of the blizzard would cut off the arrival of food to relieve the scarcity the city now faces. Rain would produce flood conditions.

As a result of the disturbed state of Lake Erie the drinking water has turned to the color of coffee and warnings were issued by the health department to prevent a typhoid epidemic by boiling the water.

The total number of dead was increased to five on Tuesday, when John Richmond, aged fifty-eight, was crushed to death when the roof of his home collapsed beneath the weight of snow, and William Gombert died in a snowdrift.

The work of cleaning the city was aided by a period of snowless weather. Fifteen hundred workmen succeeded in clearing the tracks of 14 city street car lines. In the meantime telegraph and telephone companies cleared away a large part of the wreckage resulting from the destruction of telephone poles, and established a few connections with neighboring cities. The work of rehabilitation so far has revealed that the vortex of the blizzard was limited to an area of some fifty miles around Cleveland.

No improvement in the milk situation has been effected and an actual milk famine has been caused because the companies are unable to make deliveries of the milk on hand or to obtain any more from dairies in the surrounding territory.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 12.—One train arrived here from Cleveland, after having been on the way a little more than 30 hours. It was stalled in a drift for 28 hours not far from Cleveland and the passengers suffered severely from cold and hunger. Later the train ran more nearly on the scheduled time.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Destruction of life and property by the wind and snow storm that has lashed the great lakes into fury and has scourged the country bordering on the lakes began to be more fully revealed on Tuesday.

Mute witnesses of the terrible scene of the elements presented themselves at many points on the American and Canadian shores of the lakes in the bodies cast ashore.

Hungry, frost-bitten crews fought for life with the waters for as long as 60 hours. Wrecks of lost vessels are washing upon the beaches at many ports. Vessels of various kinds are believed to have gone to the bottom. Some have not been sighted since Saturday. What the toll of death has been can only be conjectured. The estimate made at Cleveland puts the total at 100.

FAVORS A BAND FOR BOYS' CORN SPECIAL

Solon Proposes Musicians Go on Washington Trip.

ANSBERRY STARTS MOVEMENT

Ohio Is Soon to Be Reimbursed for Interest on State Funds Illegally Placed in Banks by Former Treasurers.

D. A. DONOVAN, Special Columbus Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 14.—According to a letter to T. P. Riddle of Lima, O., calls attention to the fact that Ohio has a boys' band of which to be proud, and he proposes that this band be taken on the trip to Washington. He accompanied his suggestion with a subscription to the amount of $25, and now the movement is on. Riddle, the treasurer and director of the tour, makes this comment:

"Unquestionably a good band would make a hit all along the line and afford great inspiration and pleasure to these farm boys and girls. I am therefore commending to the officers of the County Crop Improvement association and to others interested in the success of this movement that the necessary fund be raised by popular subscription."

State to Be Reimbursed.

After many years of fighting Ohio soon is to be reimbursed for interest on state funds illegally placed in banks by former state treasurers. Negotiations have reached a point where nearly $100,000 is ready to be turned over to the state treasury by banks that are weary of fighting.

Holds Act Unconstitutional.
Judge R. R. Kinkhead in the Franklin county common pleas court knocked out as unconstitutional the new Warnes automobile law passed last winter by the general assembly.

The court ruled that the graduated scale of fees, rated according to horse power, provided in the new automobile license law, imposes a tax and not a license. Being a tax, Judge Kinkhead ruled that the schedule of graduated license fees provided by the new law is contrary to the provisions of the Ohio constitution in that it levied, automobile owners would be subject to double taxation, one on automobiles as personal property and secondly in the nature of a license tax.

May Run for Governor.
That Congressman Willis will accept the honor of being a candidate for governor of Ohio before the Republican state convention is the opinion of Findlay Republicans held after talking with Willis. He denied that he had stated at Marion that he would not be a candidate. Republicans in Findlay are given to understand that he will accept the nomination and will lay their plans to work for him.

Fewer Members in Assembly.
When the general assembly convenes for its special session in January it will have fewer members than when it met for the first time last January. There are four vacancies in the membership, and another will occur early in the new year. Two vacancies were caused by death and two by resignation. Representative Lawrence P. Conway of Lucas county died of pneumonia in Columbus a few days after he came here to take his seat. Last week Representative Peter J. Collins of Stark county died suddenly. Representative Adam Frick of Scioto county has resigned on account of his election to the office of mayor of Portsmouth. The other vacancy was caused by the elevation of Senator W. A. Greenfield of Cuyahoga county to the office of lieutenant governor. The two members who died and the two who resigned were Democrats, and the vacancies caused a loss of four in the Democratic majority, but this will not affect the control of that party of the legislature. The Democrats still have more than 100 majority on joint ballot in both houses. The fifth vacancy will be caused by the resignation of Representative A. Ross Read of Summit county, who will be appointed postmaster of Akron in February. He will resign as soon as his appointment is accepted. He is a Democrat. Senator William Green of Coshocton will not need to resign even if he is successful in his desire to go to congress for the reason that he would not become a member of that body until three months after the expiration of his term as senator. The vacancies in the legislature cannot be filled except by holding special elections, and it is not likely that any will be ordered by Gov. Cox.

Will Receive Large Sum.
Within the next few days the state liquor license commission will be more than a half million dollars "to the good." It will have received from the every licensed saloonkeeper in Ohio the sum of $100 for the maintenance of the saloon license department, and since the number of licenses exceeds 5,000 the revenue will be nothing to scoff at. The payment of the $100 per saloon is, in fact, the first money that the newly elected saloonkeeper has to pay under the new license system.

The tango has every reason to be boastful. It has passed a rigorous examination at Ohio State university and bears the seal of approval of that careful and conservative dean, of college women, Miss Caroline Bryeforge. The result is it may be danced with freedom at all of the college functions where college femininity figures. It being now permitted as perfectly all right, the tango emerges from a deep gloom through which it passed last year.

Board of Complaint.
For the appeal of those who may not be satisfied with the findings in the assessment of property, it is provided in the Warnes law that there shall be a board of complaint to be composed of three persons. These boards are to be named by the state tax commission and are to have the right of reversing the rulings and decisions in matters of taxation of the tax deputies and their force. The appeal from the board of complaint is to the state tax commission.
